

THE ROADS OF DEVELOPMENT

HAPA XXIV. International Conference 20-21 february 2024. Siófok

There is no question that the effectiveness and success of infrastructural developments in such a social environment is realized, in which communities and organizations support sustainability and the ecological footprint taking into account many other environmental aspects, they form their attitude towards a specific industry, or for a project. We have to find answers and solutions to unavoidable questions on the paths of development.

Planned topics of the conference:

- Asphalt 4.0: The roads of the future and the future of mobility
- Machine manufacturers for energy reduction and a sustainable future
- Health and safety at work, traffic culture
- The role of additives in increasing the service life of pavements
- Recycling. Installation technologies

The theme of the conference - similarly to previous years - was felt and consciously undertaken for a livable future determined by shared responsibility. Please make a note of the date so that we have the opportunity for the twenty-fourth time for the dialogue, the exchange of ideas. After the presentations in the sections, in person and online we provide contact opportunities for participants and speakers as well as exhibitors.

We are waiting for you!
